Access Networks to Distribute SurgeX Products to US Integration Professionals

Encino, CA, January 30th, 2017 – Access Networks (accessca.com), the premier provider of enterprise-grade networking solutions for residential applications, has reached an agreement to distribute SurgeX professional grade surge elimination and power conditioning products to professional integrators in the US effective immediately.

SurgeX products have been engineered to protect vital networking components from surges and electrical transients that can degrade performance and reliability resulting in unwanted downtime. SurgeX is the only manufacturer of power conditioning products to offer Advanced Series Mode technology, completely eliminating damaging energy peaks of up to 6,000 volts without the ground contamination or common-mode disturbances that can degrade equipment performance. SurgeX power protection and energy intelligence solutions give integrators the most stable power platform for all smart home devices.

Now SurgeX products can be purchased through Access Networks, making them available to integrators more quickly in all regions of the US. Access Networks is based in California and is scheduled to open an east coast location in Easton, PA later this year. “Our agreement with Access Networks will help us get SurgeX products to our customers in a timely manner, while also ensuring a consistently high level of customer service”, said Jimmy Paschke, Sales Manager for SurgeX Residential. “SurgeX has shared a synergistic relationship with Access Networks for years by providing the finest power products that compliment Access Networks’ systems in the field. The two brands, when used together, have certainly helped minimize network and power related issues in the field,” Paschke added.

“It has been our experience that whenever SurgeX is used in conjunction with Access Networks solutions, integrators see a significant drop in service call-backs to the site,” explained Access Networks CSO Bryce Nordstrand. “We are excited to make SurgeX products available to integrators and offer the enhanced efficiency of logistics on both coasts once we open our Easton, PA location this summer.”
