Sioux Falls, South Dakota, June 23rd, 2026 /News Release/ AVPro Global Holdings LLC, parent company of AVPro Edge, AudioControl Pro, Bullet Train, RTI, ProControl, ThenAudio, and Murideo, announced the formation of AVPro Design Services (ADS), a dedicated team of AVPro system architects that helps integrators design, program, and deploy professional AV systems with precision and efficiency. The ADS team will support integrators serving market segments such as Business & Corporate, Education, Government, Hospitality & Retail, Houses of Worship, Medical, and Luxury Residential. The new support services group represents AVPro's continued evolution as a leading manufacturer of audio, video, and control solutions for professional integrators.

"AVPro Design Services brings our vision to life by combining best-in-class products and expert services to help integrators deliver exceptional AV experiences every time," said AVPro CEO Matt Murray. "Having an AVPro system architect on the integrator's side of the table is a powerful advantage, supporting application engineering, RTI programming, AV-over-IP consulting, home cinema layout, and more, while helping accelerate client proposals."

The ADS team will support the deployment and configuration of AVPro's comprehensive product portfolio, including AVPro Edge, AudioControl Pro, RTI, Bullet Train, Murideo, and ThenAudio brands, by designing systems that are inherently stable, scalable, and perfectly tailored to the client.
